FAREWELL TO 1915

Just four hours and 19½ will be gone. That is the old number in the old book of many, and to most it means a year well spent, a good friend. It has gone just as a moving picture, and we will not miss it again. The joys, the sorrows, the disappointments, the petty worries, the trials, the successes, the triumphs, the reconciliation, the smiles and tears, the joys of life, the trials and triumphs of three hundred and sixty-five days. Today one looks back over the past year and sees such reflections are falsehoods.

The truth is, the men rest between fingers. The story we may not choose to tell the world is that the joyous and happy memories frame our mental pictures of the past year, and that is focused on tomorrow.

The Canadian war, John Bright remarked that it was a time of gloom—a time when the angel of death was hovering over us. No one could fairly hear the beating of his heart without fearing he may have been blighted—misleads have suffered, and through them we have gained much more familiarity with the great eternal truth, and with the unseen. We have learned that 1915 is to be a year of prayer and sacrifice, and that the bitter sweets of the year that is just closing away are but trials to that great cause. And though we know these are but the poet's interpretation of the year, we are not unmoved.

A little while, a little play.

To keep so going and so, good day! A little warmth, a little light, a little rest, a little sleep, as good as night.

A little time to match the sunrise. Of each day's growth and so good morning.

A little rest that when we die we hope our sewing—and so good morning.

And so good old year; here's to a bright tomorrow.

In The Courts

(In Chambers before the Chief Justice, R. Kipp, Esq., Reporter.)

A case of considerable importance occupied the attention of the Chief Justice and his court yesterday morning. In this action the plaintiff recovered judgment of $1,000. Previous to judgment being rendered, the defendant had died, leaving his wife to his wife. This plaintiff made an application to the court to have the order setting aside the conveyances to her, etc., defendants and his wife on the part of the deceased, for the purpose of deferring the execution. The court denied the application and, yesterday morning, the Chief Justice, R. Kipp, and Justice H. L. Hartshorn, delivered judgment.

E. C. Johnson, attorney for the plaintiff, and L. G. Howatt for the defendant and wife.

PEACE RIVER MAYOR IS VISITOR TO CITY

Mr. McGehee Thompson, mayor of Peace River, is in the city for a week, and staying at the Macdonald. He represents the Peace River branch of the end of the E. D. and B.C. Railway. The new hotel, Rivarace, is about to open, and will be a fine addition to the 142-foot high arches the Heart River under construction, and when it is completed, the Peace River railway trains will be able to run right to the new hotel. The new hotel is a fine one. The passengers now have the train which will be the pride of the tributary.

The weather has been very cold at Peace River this winter so far. There is a heavy snowdrift on the highway, and the auxiliary ferry is expected to be open again in a few days.

In two months it is expected that the village of Peace River will return to its former condition.

The Thomas people are now fully built up in their new home, and have 17,500 to operate on the Peace next summer. They have a large number of settlers, some 100 persons. It is fitted with oil tanks, and equipped for the storage of oil. The town is expected to be a very busy one for the summer.

It is the opinion of the mayor that the new hotel will be a great attraction to the tourists.

Far to the westward of Peace River, though the prices are affected by war, foxes are plentiful.
